

THE FISHING SEASON OPENED MONDAY

Nimrods Are Happy and Old Fishing Tackle Being Overhauled and Repaired; Trout Reported Plentiful.

The nimrods are happy, for the fishing season opened on Monday. These enthusiasts are digging down into their knapsacks and getting out last year's tackle, fixing poles, oiling reels and testing last year's lines that landed so many "whoppers." It is a glad-some time and reeks with the spirit of the great out of doors. The office begins to feel stuffy and close and the mind wanders away to the "green fields and running brooks," where the wary game are lying in wait.

The smell of the summer is in the air, with its suggestion of woody woods and coolish canyons. And so the opening of the fishing season strikes a note of joy.

Many are the sportsmen who have been eagerly waiting for it to come, as fishing is reported unusually fine on the Pecos and other streams and already a number of them are arranging to go on fishing trips this week. Although it is a little early for good trout fishing in the upper waters of the rivers, splendid fishing may be had on the lower reaches.

This country is also a great place for fishermen and probably no other county can boast of so many beautiful wild streams as can Taos. They were stocked last summer, and there ought to be some good fishing there now.

This summer instead of spending your vacation in some over crowded summer resort or stuffy city, take a bunch of your friends and get in a camping trip to the mountains, you'll never regret it, and it is sure that you will become an active member of the "Outdoors" club and every vacation or holiday will find you up in the beautiful mountains in quest of the wary trout and pleasure.

Nothing so relieves a man of a grouch than a fishing trip. If one has been unusually over-wrought during the week with business affairs, and all he has to do to regain his composure, is to go to the mountains, bait a hook and fish like a good fellow.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Avenue Methodist church will meet in the church parlor Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. C. O. Beckman, leader.

METHODISTS MEET IN FARMINGTON

District Conference Will Be Held in That City of Religious Body: Farmington Notes of Interest.

We're not satisfied with just "skimming along" or "drifting" in the Young Men's department.

We're always going up higher--on a plane by ourselves.

Young men are the keenest observers of style and fashion. They know "what's what" and want it "just so."

That's the very reason this store is so popular with them--Years of study has perfected this important department of our business--today we please the most critical.

Perfection gives satisfaction.

MODEL COAL CAMP AT DAWSON

Mr. Beaven of This City Gives Glowing Account of Colfax County Mining Town Where He Has Just Been.

A glowing account of the progress and advancement of the little mining town of Dawson is given by John S. Beaven, who has recently returned from a business trip to that interesting city.

Mr. Beaven was met at the station on his arrival by T. M. O'Brien, the general manager of the mines, who took him over the city in an automobile and afterwards conducted him through the mines on a tour of inspection.

The town, which is supported entirely by the coal mining industry, is an enterprising, up-to-date little city, with practically all the conveniences that are to be found in the most advanced communities, regardless of population. An excellent electric lighting system makes the streets gay and attractive at night, while the health of the citizens is protected by a complete system of sewerage as can be found in cities of many times the population.

The mines at Dawson are owned by a single corporation, of which the Phillips-Dodge company is the controlling factor. More than $100,000 a month is disbursed in wages and salaries, or $28.50 for every man, woman and child in Dawson. The number of employees of all classes on the payroll amounts to more than 1,600.

The mines have an output at present of 5,000 tons of coal daily, and there are in operation 570 coke ovens which produce 1,000 tons of coke per day. An especially high grade of fancy lump coal is produced at these mines which is said to be second to none in the country.

But is in the care taken for the safety and comfort of its employees and in its reputation as a model coal camp that the company takes the greatest pride. Every safety device of the latest and most approved style is in use for the protection of the miners, and a station is maintained where men are specially trained by experts in the use of these safety appliances, so that it is hardly believable that any catastrophe could take place of the sort that has darkened the records of so many mines in other parts of the country. There are 300 buildings in Dawson, all owned by the company, and these are fitted with the most modern conveniences, such as electric lights, steam heat, bathtubs and all the other things that go to make home life comfortable. Verily, the man who cannot be contented with life in Dawson is hard to please.

Five thousand tons of coal are mined a day at Dawson, and a thousand tons of coke are produced between the rising and the setting of the sun. Five million dollars are invested in the industry. Five hundred and seventy coke ovens, most of them of the latest pattern, are being operated. The best grade of domestic and furnace coke is made. Smoke and gas created by the process are used to generate electricity for propelling machinery.

The company is erecting a steel trestle 1,000 feet in span across the Vermillo valley. A new solid steel bridge is being built. Among the improvements recently undertaken are three track scales, each 57 feet long.

The small lumps of coal and shale are thoroughly washed. The latter is employed in the manufacture of coke. Some of the best fancy lump coal in the world comes from the Dawson mines.

SIMON DESCHLER
Who Will Meet Roy Mabee Tonight at the Opera House in a Farewell Wrestling Bout.

THREE BOUTS WILL HAPPEN TONIGHT AT THE ELKS

JAPANESE PROVE TO BE MOSTLY INDIANS

The Hatley Twins, Olsen-McDonald and the Mabee-Deschler Matches Will Delight Fans This Evening.

Imperial Baseball Team Seen Here Recently Turns Out to Be Odd Combination of Job Lot Pick-ups.

Well do you know about that?

The start pitcher of the Japanese team here Sunday was Louis Lockhart, the Indian Louis was out on the couch and wanted to get east so he awoke up with the Japs and beat it. He is a good pitcher though.

One of the best that has ever propped a pellet on the legal award. It is not likely that he will get by Trinidad or Raton for both teams have for a good Indian that is not a dead one.

He pitched with Los Angeles last spring, and let down the Boston Red Sox with only two hits. He was a mystery to the local drags at several stages of the game here, and with better support would no doubt have carried off a victory. Hale Weeks connected with him best for an hour and got away with four hits. After four hours and Hidalgo, two. The rest could find him all afternoon. Hidalgo's four scores were made without a hit, pretty good evidence of the weakness of Lockhart's support.

The third baseman in Sunday's game was also an Indian, maybe running as a Jap. An Indian catcher started with the team, but went back at Nodder because of injuries received in the game there. Lockhart smothered his name Lockhart for stage purposes.

The dark horse, McDonald, from St. Louis is a deep mystery. Mabe when questioned today in regard to his name said that he was actually at a loss to the man's identity. He showed up all of a sudden when the wrestling talk began going the rounds, and claims that he will not only throw Olsen off hand but will be able to put it over on Mabee or Deschler after that, should they care to try out with him. Olsen, however, is feeling man and fit, and doesn't intend to let any St. Louis dark horse wrestle get the best of him. It is strangely hinted that this St. Louis man is no other person than Frank Gough himself, under an assumed name, but this surmise is not given much credence.

The match of the evening will be between old rivals for names, Mabee and Deschler. This will be Deschler's last appearance in public matches. He will retire from the arena after this match whether he wins or loses. He has been training in secret for this match for several months past, and is in the finest possible shape. Every muscle in his great body is strung up to the highest pitch, and the slowness that characterized his latter performances, it is stated, has been overcome to a remarkable extent so that he stands very good chances with Mabee. Indeed, the betting has changed considerably since it was learned in what excellent shape he was in, and the odds are only 2 to 1 in favor of Mabee.

Mabee is going into this match to win he says. He has trained faithfully, and his speed in action and the new holds and "stunts" that he has mastered since his last appearance give him the advantage in the betting thus far.

Random is expectantly awaiting the biggest sporting event that Albuquerque has ever seen, and the ladies are going to turn out in numbers, from present indications, to see the match, as it is a perfectly clean athletic pastime, which has been popular since the days of the Greeks at Olympia.

The Dawson man, Dominick, has been unable to make definite arrangements with local mat-artists although it is planned to arrange a match with Olsen at Dawson on the twenty-fifth of this month.
